

Building balanced meals

Building a healthy plate can be colourful, fun and full of choices. Let's talk about the foods you love and how you can build your own meal.

Your turn...

When planning a meal, what foods do you think about first?

How do you add variety to your meals each day?

What food group usually takes up the most space on your plate?

What influences the foods that you choose to put on your plate?

